

---

Subject: Re: Truth about 9/11...

Posted by Scythar on Fri, 28 Jul 2006 17:37:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Dogg wrote on Fri, 28 July 2006 13:25Something I like posting to just generally fuck with the conspiracy theorists and more specifically the Pentagon attack and all this proof that it was a missile, is this video...

<http://www.imadogg.com/videos/concreteplane.wmv>

People will cry and claim the lack of evidence, plane parts, etc etc etc etc prove it was a missile...

Watch the video...it's a fighter on rails hitting a concrete wall at 500 miles an hour...what's left? Nothing except the extreme wing tips...period...the plane for lack of a better word atomizes itself into nothing in front of your eyes...so yeah...there would not be material like a water crash...a head on collision into a concrete wall will generally atomize the plane...some parts blew or broke off and it was going slower...but it's no where near the proof to cry it was a missile...plus no one could see a missile travelling at 700 mphs...but some could, and did (Like Blazer apparently), see the plane going in...it's a major DC artery (or just outside it) over Rt 27, Columbia Pike, 395, etc etc...and yeah...who looks up all day to even see a plane when 500 a day take off from Reagan...but some did...others just want fame to say it was whatever they want to say for 2 minutes of fame...the ones that actually saw the plane dismissed cause it's not compelling news...

Just to point out facts, there are relatively few who believe that it was a missile anyway, or at least not a missile alone. For example, if you try to counter the original video posted in this thread, they claimed it was a Global Hawk.

---