

---

Subject: Re: Luner-Landings - What do you think.
Posted by Oblivion165 on Sun, 30 Jul 2006 20:42:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I personally don't think it happened. Sometimes governments have to do things to keep a certain level of status. It was a bad time with Vietnam and America needed something other than the killing and horrid footage from the media. They needed to show hope for the future and that the human race was above barbaric acts. So they created a idea, announced the idea and set for it.

Whether or not they started with the set or they just couldn't do the real thing, I think they made a facsimile in order to better the moral of the country. Whatever did happen, it happened on December 27th just a few days before Christmas and it made everyones year a little brighter.

In todays world I think the moon could be reached briskly, but not in 1968.

---