

---

Subject: Re: Haha.

Posted by Aprime on Mon, 31 Jul 2006 10:06:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

They call it humor where I come from. It's actually nice to know that you're acknowledging that you don't feel you're the right gender after supposedly bashing Jamanda for what he (unless he's a she now, I don't know, I haven't been able to follow what was happening in #n00bstories for say, the past year?) was doing, and that is something I, somewhat, respect.

You know why we're getting a "good laugh" out of your privacy, seriously, you do.

No concept or morality or humanity? Please, look at what you've said in the past before accusing us of such things.

Because I've bashed "blah blah blah", actually, your opinion were and are still of nearly no importance to myself and other people, unless they're or were voiced in a constructive fashion (speaking of which, what the fuck is up with you? You act like a fucking anime fairy on DeviantART, and by that I mean that you're being friendly to everyone, oh... I think I know why, having friends on DeviantART means getting known, and getting known means more page views, and more means more people who see what you're selling (also known as DeviantART prints), and more people who know you "shop" means more customers, and what does more customers mean? More funds! And where do the funds go? In those now famous lunches! At least this time, it's a legitimate source of cash!)

if you're really thinking that you mean more than anyone else here, I'd like to remind you that all humans are technically equal, and that the fact that you've made a truckload of work (not all of which is good, despite what you said) doesn't make you superior to a point where you have the right to be condescending towards other map makers and such.

My objective wasn't trying to make you feel like a piece of shit, it never was, but there are things that you should be ashamed of other than your little experiences, but that's likely never going to happen anyway.

Yeah, I think we all understood that you knew you weren't a woman at the beginning of your message, and yes, you can be a girl, thanks to modern medicine.

Nothing makes me better than you, except the fact that I know how to make a budget and how to spend my money, unlike you. Which categories are you speaking of exactly? If you REALLY happen to be a homosexual, it wouldn't bother me at all, it's something I accept as a Canadian citizen.

What's wrong with a little mockery, sir? After all these years being mocked by you, why couldn't we return the favor? Because it has to do with your personal life perhaps? Well, you just had to make sure that Sarah wouldn't share that part of your life with us, not by punching a hole in the wall or by employing violence (verbally or physically), but just by making sure (by the means of a simple discussion, or such).

Blah blah I'm tired.

EDIT: Yeah, if I didn't get your point, see the line above... Because all of this shit and more kept me awake for a very, long, time.

---