OK, all of your children have had your laugh. This is disgusting on so many levels. I'm sure MOST of you have issues in your life that make you either THINK you're socially unacceptable or actually make you socially unacceptable (a weight problem, bad acne, too skinny, etc). Big deal. The idiotic "The internet is serious business" bullshit does NOT apply here because you are making a personal attack on someone that crosses into real life. Does he deserve it? Maybe. We all know he's not the nicest person ever to come across this place. But while it's one thing to make fun of someone's work or someone's opinions on something, it's crossing a major line to exploit a deeply personal problem that someone has.

Grow the fuck up. What he does is in the privacy of his own home and doesn't affect you one bit. Nor does it affect his work one bit. Stop being petty and retarded.
