{IRA}IronHorse wrote on Thu, 03 August 2006 18:39 I don't have to defend myself I hardly ever play Renegade. I run two servers one Warcraft and the other F.E.A.R. For the record I never started this whole forum BS. Havoc being a server Mod should know that its gotten harder to hack servers since the new server side bots have been out. I knew this when I ran my Renegade servers using Brenbot. I got threats all the time from people but, guess what I knew better. For people that claim to be old Renegade players you surely don't know much about the programs you're using. They do include a READ.ME file you know.

Yes, it may be hard to hack a The Planet server that's running a sophisticated bot written exclusively for Black-Cell by vloktboky/whitedragon, but any idiot with Google and the correct search terms can bring any server down with a dDoS attack, and that requires no real hacking knowledge whatsoever. Black-Cell's suffered more than a few of those over the years, mostly before I joined the community, but it's still just a temporary inconvenience.

{IRA}IronHorse wrote on Thu, 03 August 2006 18:51 Surprise, I love how you say I have a lower IQ than all of you. Is this because, I'm not in the click???? Your telling me to grow up look at yourself before you judge others. Rule of Thumb here you get treated the way you treat others. You people attacked me first and yet, you want to demand respect? You get no respect until you give respect. Period

No, YOU attacked Black-Cell first when you threatened to "blow [our] damn server to hell". "Not being in the clique" has nothing to do with this; you threatened one server (on record), multiple players (on record), possibly have threatened others (records pending), and you expect US to respect YOU? Again, I hope you love the taste of your feet.

{IRA}IronHorse wrote on Thu, 03 August 2006 19:22 I'm not attacking you personally. You're about the most polite person that has left a remark. I came from the old school Renegade when people played and had fun. Times have changed which is why I don't even bother running any servers for Renegade anymore. Thank you for not being rude like everyone else has been on here. These people on here have no clue what it takes to make a game and get a GMC build ready to submit. I'm under the gun all the time and when you're working on a 20 million dollar project with a deadline there's loads of stress. So, it doesn't take much to set things off. I would have no problem apologizing to Havoc if he apologized to me for coming off rude like I saw when I simply requested a player to be tested.

First of all, you're not the only person who has deadlines to meet. I'm sure there are other people in this community who have to deal with crunch times in their jobs. For example, my bosses have a lot of stress when they have to prepare paperwork for the courts a few days before it's due for multimillion-dollar debt collection cases because their clients were too lazy to send their evidence in a timely manner. As for not knowing exactly how hard it is to make a video game, I concede that I am not qualified to make a judgement on that, but I'm sure there are people here who can, as it is/will be their profession (e.g. vloktboky, Aircraftkiller, etc.). I would also like to know how, if you're in the middle of a crunch, you were able to be home by 5 PM to post a reply. In regards to your assertion that I have been rude to you in this thread: my original post was just one of information and evidence (the latter of which may be incriminating in nature, but that's no fault of mine since it's unedited). My replies subsequent to your own may have been denigrating and/or condescending, but you started it by replying and immediately calling me a moron in your second sentence. I will apologize for this if anyone other than you feels that I stepped out of line and said anything that wasn't matter-of-fact. In regards to me being rude to you when you "requested" that black51b be tested: you did not "request" anything - you DEMANDED it. If you are not running the server, you have no right to demand things. A civil and well-stated request to a moderator stating that you believe someone is playing unfairly is welcome, but yelling "cheater" when you get owned by a free infantry, and then going on to say

[01:28:17] <&BCServ4> hardkil: black you need to be tested like now

[01:28:44] <%havoc9826> !page hardkil you have no authority regarding tests in this server, please do not pretend to have any

[01:29:23] <&BCServ4> hardkil: don't pm me talking shit I say he needs to be tested is tantamount to demanding that I perform a test, not politely requesting that I do so. Whether you're spinning the truth or lying outright, being dishonest is something that makes people respect you less, so if you want more respect, be forthright.
