I would take the rights to the folder you want to delete (be in administrator) then, use this little nifty unlocker program i found.

Ever have a empty folder somewhere that just wont delete? Or a dll that is being used and you just want the little b*astard gone?

Welp, this is the tool for you!

Basically what it does is un hooks the file/folder from anything that is using it. It makes a nice little right-click menu for easy use.
