

---

Subject: Re: hardkil has threatened to impersonate me
Posted by PlastoJoe on Fri, 04 Aug 2006 23:07:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

{IRA}IronHorse wrote on Fri, 04 August 2006 17:47

I don't steal.....I don't hack..... and I don't need to. I'm sure you have enough of this going on already. Especially when you got nobody's like Crimson who "thinks" she can write code making "add-ons" like Renguard and not even testing it for stability against simple hacks. Just a thought, if you going to make a poor attempt at developing an anti-cheat for a game you might want to thoroughly test it and make sure it actually works. BETA TEST BETA TEST!!!

Then clearly, since you have already admitted that you are hardkil, you did make threatening statements without having the balls to even attempt to back them up. As I said before, screenshots > you.

So, hardkil, you are one of two things:

1) A self-absorbed professional programmer who likes to use the clout of the name of his position to push around smaller server owners and programmers and threatens their hard work when his way isn't followed. Essentially, an Internet bully which is really the most pathetic kind because they can only use their words (almost always dubious) and have no physical attributes to use to intimidate others, OR

2) A cocky little teenage (or less) liar who, when confronted with damning evidence, continues to dig him/herself a hole and can only defend himself with more of the same BS that got him ridiculed and banned in the first place. This is much more likely since a programmer with any kind of job security whatsoever would not take so much time and effort out of his job with a huge gaming conglomerate to belittle users of an internet forum whom he has never met before and whom he knows nothing about.

Either way, you lose. My suggestion would be to leave while you still lack the urge to shoot yourself at the realization that you're wasting your life and, more importantly, our time.

Quote:Don't just relay on patches without testing but, then again small time wannabe programmer with an even smaller budget.

You don't seem to have finished your closing statement. Will you double post again or are you content with the brilliance of your previous statement?

---