
Subject: RE: Hardkil is a fucking moron.
Posted by Corpgus on Sat, 05 Aug 2006 04:53:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have played with havoc in the past and despite his recent events on the noobstories website I find this the most credible and interesting thing. Yes there is an EALA, now then.

IF I READ THIS CORRECTLY

In the chat log you said you worked for Valve, EA, something else with a V i cant remember, Servered in the military. What I've heard is The People at EA pull 12 hour shifts. that would give you 12 hours to, drive halfway across the US to get to your other offices, sleep, play ren, write programs, Go to different biuldings and peoples houses with wireles internet to use there IPS, and threaten people on IRC. Did I miss anything?

Also Fear has nothing to do with EA.

XVII owns Ren servers now EA gave them control thus EA has no control.

There was no breach in contract. As Havoc said "Expeirence may change during online play.

and unless you work for Microsoft too, you dont work for the biggest gamming company in the world.

Microsoft had two game consoles = Two whole consoles where they get to slap there names on the games and say they own them + the Mechwarrior, Halo, Age of Empire, Mechcommander, age of mythology, plus any other series of computer games. EA= sports games and a few PC games whom they bought out.

At any rate you would have died by now in exashtion from the 25/7 hour a day working. At any point HAVoc is more afraid of california breaking off then he is of you taking his IP.
