

---

Subject: Re: Swearing on public servers

Posted by DreamWraith on Sat, 05 Aug 2006 21:22:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

mrpirate wrote on Sat, 05 August 2006 13:25 While obviously people who pay for servers are under no obligation to anyone, I've always failed to see how preventing me from saying "shit" really improves anyone's experience. I also hate the servers where some tard and I will start flaming each other and the mods get mad and threaten to ban us both. Fuck. I enjoy fighting with idiots while I play Renegade. To me that's fun. And it's pretty annoying when some self-righteous 15-year-old moderator gets a boner from kicking you for "OMF BE NIEC LOL".

Swearing is one thing, holding a long drawn out argument that spams chat is quite another. If i had a nickle for every time I had missed an important teamchat message because of some idiots spamming away in their arguments, I would have quite a few rolls of nickles.

---