Well the reason behind it is, I'm very reluctant to give details because if it does somehow get published in the long run, I don't want bits of it just randomly floating throughout the internet, right...? But a synopsis is alright I guess. It's about 20 months of this guy's life before he leaves his hometown. That's all, very simple.

And to icedog, there's a myspace link somewhere with a few songs around. I'm behind a filter so myspace is blocked and all, but I'll be out of it this weekend so if I still remember to do so then, I'll paste a few links in.
