Quote:"God" is just a grown-up version of Santa Claus, a concept invented by man as a way to control people en masse.

Only one problem with your argument. Santa Clause does, or rather did, exist!

You know damned well that I am referring to the modern day version of "Santa Claus", the fat jolly guy who can deliver presents around the world in one night and flies in a sleigh, and will fill your stocking with coal if you misbehave during the year. That story is no more or less ridiculous than the story of a god who sends you to an imaginary hell or heaven when you die.
