LOL fl00d! On the contrary, darling...all religions are parallel in some form.

Before Christianity, there was Druidism, a latter-day form of the modern Wicca. Then Christian Crusaders spread Christianity and this became the common religion.

I am curious to know more about the Bible's take on Egyptian culture and religion, as it was established thousands of years before Christ came for a visit.

I do consider myself Wiccan because it's simply what I believe. It works for me and it's what we call the Old Religion. To me, it explains more than any other religion.

Religion is also about tolerance. I admire all forms of religion.
