wow...big wig...you're the smartest guy in the forums. honestly...because...you know...I always talk about how we're just fighting in Iraq for the oil. numbnuts...I have constantly said I know it's not about the oil...you see to be forgetting something...my dad is the manager of an oil rig in Africa...I know more about the oil bussiness than you will probably ever know...and I'll be the first to tell you that if it was about oil...they would have just taken over Iraq when we pushed them out of Kuwait.

If you think asking a question about the draft and stating that being FORCED, legally, to fight for an ideal you dont believe in, whether it happens again or not (probably wont), saying that makes you a terrorist, then I guess I'm guilty. I never once praised Bin Laden...I think we did the right thing taking him out...

Without people that use their freedoms...your brother would be out there killing and dying for nothing. The Consitution has proven time and time again that it is flawed...and our forefathers set it up so that those flaws could be fixed for a reason. I never once insulted America. I love this country...dispite its flaws there are people that would chose to make it a better place to live. People that realize it's not perfect and will do everything they can to make it better. That is what makes this country so great. You're right...without the military...we would be taken over and have lost our freedoms...but without people like me...they'd be out there dying for nothing.
