If by that you mean overseeing Renegade's only clan ladder of note, it's usually maybe ten minutes a day...

trooprm02 wrote on Wed, 13 September 2006 14:43and the other half goes to you recovering after being flammed by everyone in the general forums about how shitty your ladder is.

*proving everyone's flawed, ignorant and baseless accusations to be absolutely dead wrong (you being a prime example) and watching them not even have the common decency to retract them

...which is more of a five-minute job

I see you're still angry at being humiliated... any update on getting any of that mythical "fresh air" one of these days? Considering you wear hoodies indoors I doubt it.
