

---

Subject: Re: Global warming

Posted by Berkut on Fri, 15 Sep 2006 17:26:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Global warming? No. Global climate shifts? It's happened. Apparently, at one point in time, the Earth had a slightly more torrid climate, but some cataclysmic event (seismic upheaval causing massive flooding, meteor, what have you...), changed the climate a bit. Anywho, I saved my notes from my topography course. A change in the Earth's axial tilt in one direction by only a few degrees could cause an Ice Age. At the same time, a tilt in the other direction could bake the surface of the Earth into oblivion.

So to be safe, don't just slam down into the back of your couch. Slide into it slowly and you could prevent the Apocalypse!

---