

---

Subject: Re: ball

Posted by warranto on Fri, 29 Sep 2006 17:44:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Circles and Spheres DO have sides. HOWEVER:

They are so infinitesimally small that there is no point in worrying about them. This is how centrifugal/centripetal force works. The object is moving in a straight line, but that line is continuously changing as you move around the perimeter.

---