No, you don't, because you never, ever mentioned this part before even though you've always known it. Meaning it's nothing to do with the topic - you've just run out of anything relevant to defend Kholdstare with, but can't stomach the thought of to actually stop posting.

In case you haven't noticed, you weren't previously bitching about "vile script kiddies" while associating yourself with one.

It's called irony. I figured you would be able to grasp that.
