Look, all I'm saying is that it was something he did good that ultimately lead him to the situation we are at now, at banning him. I said I found this ironic. I'm not trying to imply that this ban poll is from the fact that he posted the conversations, but that it is IRONIC that if it wasn't for the fact that he did something good, that he would never have had a poll to ban him. I am not trying to imply anything here.. I know that this poll is about EVERYTHING he's done and that it's because of his own actions that also lead him to here. But I said I find it ironic that one of the few good things he's done, is the reason why this poll is ultimately here now. If he didn't do what he did, this poll would most-probably never have existed for the duration of renegade. Don't take this as implying something bad or terrible. If he deserves to get banned, he probably will. By the way, I assume you're going to take off double votes, if they're the same IP, right?
