Dead6re, I know you're able to get the serial directly from the client, but please, make a md5 hash of it before writing it to some kind of log. Since else I expect a lot of stolen serials coming up.

And dead6re, I dont know whether or not you know which JW is going to implement in scripts.dll? I beleive he might include the reserved slots, though I'm not 100% sure. Ask StealthEye to be sure.

Another thing, maybe look into the possibility to enable /disable the wall lag fix in the config too. Thatway servers which are low on bandwidth can use it too
