
Subject: Re: Battlefield 2142 Demo out
Posted by Deathgod on Wed, 11 Oct 2006 05:38:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

As everyone has said so far, expect bugs. You should not be surprised by this with an EA product by now unless you have been living under a rock. Hell, you shouldn't expect this with any company.

Titan mode is pretty fun I think, reminds me of Tribes crossed with BF. I love infiltrating the enemy Titans knowing there is a base full of people to kill, good times.

I like the futuristic setting a lot. The walkers are a bitch to kill, but that's to be expected. Raining down death from the Titan turrets is great.

I really don't like the whole 'having to buy your kit' system they've set up with the unlocks, unless they scaled down the points necessary for an upgrade I will most likely be constrained to one class for the game because I don't plan on playing this for hours on end. I have reality to compete with for time.

All in all, it was really not much I didn't expect. They will patch just enough bugs to make people keep buying it.
