It's hardly practical and by the time you even had enough for a transport shortly after the other team would have an apache/orca, it might work if the other team wasn't very good and didn't buy any vehicles, then again, you wouldn't need to to send a vehicle up there to win, they could probably just as easily rushed with meds or whatever vehicles... because if a team can't stop a lone vehicle on the top with a copter than it didn't really have a chance to begin with.
