The only reason I see why you posted this was to try and back up your claims that there are plenty of "asswisers" on this forum. Congratulations, you figured something out that most of us have known for years.

As for your avatar, you're only giving me attention that you probably shouldn't be giving an "asswiser". Plus, being arrogant enough to label others puts you into the category of an "asswiser" and makes you a hypocrite. Nice job.

Actually no, I labled people as much as someone who calls someone else a bad name, probably not even, my good sir Calling people an Asswiser, is as bad as calling you a nice person.

Please do not think I am trying to prove that there are Asswisers here, I have no interest in doing that, this is just information on them

And as for the point of this thread? Useful Information.
What fucked up logic you have.

You labled people in your avatar. You label people by their usage of certain words or phrases, so don't give me any of your psuedo-intelligent bullshit.

How is insulting someone by calling them an "asswiser" (as you clearly mean to use the word as a negative label) on the same level as a compliment?

This isn't useful information. It's stereotyping and labeling. It's one thing to insult a certain type of people, but it's another to try and label random garbage as useful information.

Oh, and i'm sure you are Nicer than someone who stereotypes, or lables people, But thats your opinion
