Heheh, depends on how you view it. What I was saying is that Westwood's C&C games were awesome even if they were very similiar and many reviews indeed marked them as "the same game with new units". It didn't make the games one bit worse. It's the same with Battlefield series for me. It's supposed to be a team-based FPS game with it's own basic characteristics, just because "it's the same game as before but with new units" doesn't make it any worse.

Personal opinions naturally.
