When you open your mind to these possibilities you can find what could be evidence of it all over. I'm not all that sure which of it is and isn't true but I'm not ready to declare it all bullshit, as much as I'd like it to NOT be true.

Just like the Pentagon being hit by a missile, right? That has a lot of "evidence". Blazer could just be a part of the conspiracy, too.

What about how there was a second plane following the one that hit the Pentagon that they disappeared from media coverage? Blazer saw that. What other lies are we told?

It's all about being open to the possibilities. Believing there COULD be a conspiracy present isn't the same as acting on it.
