And I've also got an excellent price on the Brooklyn Bridge...

You do know that the Aluminati control the media, so they made the ones who wear the tin foil hats look like complete lunatics, but in truth if you knew the weapons they have, you would be wearing them to. TRUST ME. Weapons such as electronically induced cancers, and I can prove that.

EDIT: This comes from something I read and still am reading in a great book: We live in the 21st century we have laptop, GPS, Nuclear Tecknology, Chemichal Energy Tecknology, Rechargagble Batteries, Sun Power, Wind Power, and ect... You have to admit that something is SERIOUSLY wrong if we are STILL using 50% of our energy from fossill fuels!

Here's the thing, you first go off on a tangent about how we'd be wearing tinfoil hats if we know what was going on, but then you talk about how much technology we have. Don't you think this whole conspiracy government would have the technology to make those tinfoil hats obsolete? Wouldn't you just be giving yourself a false sense of safety?

Conspiracies are so full of shit and so many holes that it's not even funny. Sure, you can find evidence upon evidence to prove your point, but you always ignore the most important thing: logic and reasoning. If you used it, you'd see through all of these conspiracies.

About the tin foil hats, yes they do protect you to a certain degree, but some rogue elements DO have tecknology that effects consiousness. But the hats do offers some protection. How about a padded cell? Would that work, too? You need one, that's for sure.
