Your government has failed you. That is if you live in the US. The system has failed to protect you from illegal immigrants. Just look at the news they are killing, stealing, raping, and destroying America as we know it. They are a prejudice people who do not want to assimilate and become American, instead they just keep on preaching: "Latino rights! Latino rights! Latino rights!" And then there is Mayor Viliragosa who is breaking the law by favoring illegal immigrants. The bottom line is the people who run the system, the government, has failed. I mean common, how can you fight a war on terrorism with your borders wide open! Do those diplomats even care about this country anymore? Does anybody care? It seems to me that people are afraid to speak up against illegal immigrants for fear of being called a racist. Well guess what this is America, and we have freedom of speech, well not as much as in Texas but we still have it!
