Compressing the video to a proper lower bit rate would make a 30 second video weigh something like 2mb. Zipping video files is COMPLETELY and UTTERLY useless. Don't do it. I knew you had Windows Movie Maker because every copy of Windows XP has it already.

And make SURE you record at half-size, not full-size. You need a 10,000 RPM hard drive for full-size if you're running the game at 1024x768.
