That proves your point how, exactly? I don't justify myself to you, because you're insignifigant and mean nothing to me. You have no relevance in my life. You have no relevance in this community. You have no real bearing or tact, nor do you have any idea of how to communicate your thoughts intelligently - so why should I take anything you say or do as more than the ramblings of an immature malcontent?

I've already proven myself... I shouldn't have to continually do it because some 12 year old anime-loving girl thinks I'm "flaming" everyone here to hide the "fact" that I can't model or create maps.
