As I said, the more you try to dig for a connection, the greater the chance you're going to find one... the thing is, usually they won't coincide.

You claim that the government and other powers at be are monitoring us and trying to control us, yet they've allowed for so many conspiracies to surface? Wouldn't they want to eliminate a threat before it becomes one?

Sure, they couldn't prevent every threat, but you'd certainly think they would cover up the 9/11 Conspiracy, wouldn't you?

They basically did coverup 911. The big press is printing out stories, that don't go hand and hand with what the people really think. This is thier goal, keep throwing shit at you, hey, some of it has to stick. Their fore the short term memmory will be wiped, along with the flouride that you drink in your water daily, and the tooth paste that you brush your teeth with also contributes to your affected consness. Just look up flouride and water. Listen, these people, if they are people, they are smart, they probably know how you think <Satinists, Spirituallity, Scosialogy>. Is there really a gun and liquer store on every block in South Central Los Angeles? That rap music doesn't sound nice. It may sound crazy but lets pretent that you were playing a game of Renegade with me, and you knew how I thought the emotional, geo-political place, social status, all this really narrows things down for you to make dicisions based apon my disisions on what I am going to do. AWWW we now maybe going into a higher or lower level of thought and consness. Knowledge is power. There is a war on for your mind. Think this over for them we must be cattle that are controlled in the directions that they want us to go in.

EDIT: Remember that it is the mind that controls the body the other way around. But then you have neurons.

Perhaps before trying to educate us you could learn how to spell half the words you are using and use the edit button instead of having 5 posts in a row.

And regarding the borders being open and undefended. Well if there is a group manipulating the masses do you honestly think securing the borders is going to be anywhere near as big a challenge as controlling the the population of America. Which would require predicting thousands of social reactions to thousands of stimuli and so on.

Fluoride being in the water supply is also far too crude a method of short-term memory control and thought manipulation. Lets assume that the group in power which manipulates us has access to more advanced technology than is available to the masses. Energy manipulation devices on satellites that orbit the earth which in theory could change our though process and perception. Would that not be a lot easier to use than the primitive means of effecting short term memory with flouride. I'm not denying it may negatively effect your brain in some way. But it's probably very minimal, and primarily there to preserve peoples teeth.

Basically thrash, you are not thinking quite for yourself. You're letting text and videos place ideas in your head which are far too basic to be accurate in the first place. Perhaps a certain group in control is spinning these out trying to turn susceptible groups of people into paranoid wrecks?

You're not thinking deeply enough about any of this thrash. You should take what I've said into consideration.

(note: it's good to question things, I'm not saying don't do that. But don't let ideas and theories like the ones on the sites thrash likes to frequent control you. Question those as well)

Also I'd like to point out that a good lot of you are worthless trolls who are not much better than thrash. And gotso just isn't even funny (a post earlier where he just made himself look stupid when trying to take the piss out of thrash)

And finally, the world trade center conspiracy can be debunked quite effectively here.

Rmuser took a good couple of months to put together the facts. The thing is Loose-Change is fiction anyway but marketed as non-fiction for profit after the creator wanted a shot at stardom.
