ok, first of all...im not making a stand alone app...ill let someone else do that.

im makeing the app you download as a client so it connects to your FDS through the SBot or some other means and get the data that way. it is alot easier than making the whole thing stand alone.

the mean reason for this is because if a bot/regulater need gamelog, it can use it.

but i may just put it in scripts.dll
