EA's last excuse:

Quote:Why should we spend a bunch of time on a decent game if we can spend less time on shitty games, which look good from the screenshots and other previews, than people will buy it when it comes out....Than once they get bored of that game, which will happen quickly, we will have another shitty game out for them to buy. Why not? It's profitable and easy and takes less time.....Unlike your old favoured Westwood Studios.
