
Subject: Re: Scam or no Scam?

Posted by DarkKnight on Fri, 08 Dec 2006 22:28:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Years ago I was contacted by a phone call informing me that I just won a luxury cruise. I asked where they got my name from and what did I enter to have my name drawn. The guy I was talking to said sir I'm not privy to that information I'm just calling you to let you know of your prize.

I was like ok so where do I get my tickets. He said just send us $200 for your passport fees and we will be happy to send you the tickets and all the information needed. I said I have a passport already. I really didn't but was curious as to his response. He said well the money is to process everything through. Needless to say I got off the phone with him and said no thanks.
