

---

Subject: w3d viewer movies?

Posted by Veyrdite on Sat, 23 Dec 2006 08:15:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

i was looking at the difference from two planes (in w3d viewer) with the same texture but different lighting settings today, when i noticed a thing in the top-left called "movie". i clicked it, then "make movie" (just trying to see what it does) note that i exported the scene as non-animated.

the program lagged for a while, and i that time i was using other windows. when it had finished, there was a new avi file in the w3d viewer directory. i opened it up, to find a skewed version of what i had been doing when it lagged. is this just chance, or can i utilise it for capturing what i am doing . if so, how can i fix the skew?

if anyone wants the file ill email it to them, so i dont waste hosting space on other sites.

---