It's not harmful. I just don't choose to do it. I don't like sloppiness, and ads in the nature of that particular product seem sloppy to me. I prefer my server-side scripts and bots to appear native, not hacked on later. That's also why I don't use the SSAOW bind/lock functionality. It's the epitome of sloppiness, both with having to issue a command in chat, and the stupid icon that appears on the vehicle when it's bound or locked.
