If the video was taken by the spectator, then what you also see are the skins that the spectator has.

Now if the sniper seen the SBH at distance, why, could the spectator see the SBH from even further away?

IMHO, this clip is not conclusive proof of cheating. It does not even come up to "beyond reasonable doubt", in fact it barely registers as suspect at all.

no retards posting b4 reading the thread plx.

Lets recap a few things, skins you see are what the spectator sees, he can see the sbh because he is on Nod - the clip is irrelevant as proof of anything tbh (apart from maybe proving he isn't using an aimbot as he missed the sbh), but he has been caught damage hacking so it really doesn't matter.

anyone with a server should ban him.
