You bunch aren't very bright at all, are you? I'll use numbering this time, maybe it'll help.

1. Generally, CW players think of public servers gaming as something that isn't even remotely challenging, so in return it's nothing to get worked up about.

2. Now if someone decides to jump in their game with bigheads and can't be kicked, the CW players won't let that irritate them and fuck around themselves instead of wasting their energy by scanning through IRC channels to find a mod, taking videos and screenshots to post on forums, writing n00bstories or some other geek shit.

That's all there is to it, there's nothing to interpret, so I guess Warranto can go back to his usual hermit life.
