
Subject: Re: Sour Egg Releases NoFear
Posted by jnz on Wed, 17 Jan 2007 19:02:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

first of all your body craves nicotine. i have been addicted to it (not cigarets) and found it pretty easy to get off of it. in fact all you need it willpower, find something to do that will take your mind off of nicotine.

second of all, i will not fogive the fact you cheated. but i also for some reason feel some sympathy. i have considered getting my own back on cheaters, but i just think to myself "is it worth it?". no is the answer. never the less, what you did for the community was counterd by the fact you did this.

i think everyone should be allowed a second chance. imo, if you do stop cheating i think this should all be forgotten. unless ofcourse it happens again. i belive no one should have a 3rd chance.

im sure i will be called a jackass for posting my opionion. but thats how it goes on this forum.
