yea they do, but drugs (including cannibis) finance crime globally, if that money was going to the government in tax instead then everyone would be a lot better off - (apart from the criminals, who at higher levels crimes usually spread past drug dealing. Not suggesting all drugs should be legal, but people are going to buy these drugs whether they are legal or not, by making them illegal it simply means that the money goes to the drug dealers rather than governemnts taxing the shit out of it.
