Troopr02 where the fuck do you get this shit from? At first you get all pissed off because I kick you out of Tsunami Gaming community because you're a wannabe pro and embarrassed the hell out of me on these forums numerous times. Then shortly after, we have some incidents with your ex members (explained above). Then you disappear for awhile.

Now you come back, flaming pistols, all ready to work up a war against not only those people you're mad at (or me) ... but the entire community. What the fuck?! Seriously, you need to get some meds bro cuz you're losing your damn mind if you think I cheat or anyone else in my community cheats. The one and only person in the ENTIRE community (from any clan, any community, any game) that has cheated and is still allowed to remain in the community is RRkiller. And as I explained, action was taken and he's not a habitual cheater so I'm not concerned. Everyone else that has come close to cheating who has cheated has been kicked/banned; not only from the community ... but also from our public servers. Including Eskamo's brother (who does not cheat but shares the same IP).

I am one of the most determined ANTI-cheaters anywhere. Anyone will tell you that. I probably get annoying with all of my anti-cheat flames. So how could you possibly be so ignorant as to say TsuGaming.com would harbor such cheaters? Wow - you've gone off the deep end.

Since we're playing patty cake, why don't we get into the topic of your gay little clan that had 20 imaginary members and based their clanwar history off individual maps played. Or perhaps about your server that allowed you to play 1v0? Hmmm, or maybe the fact that there is a thread on these forums voting you as the #1 rene loser. Where should I start?

Just fucking give it up because you're preaching to a crowd that is on my side. You'd have better luck bitching to a wall.

Owned. Good game. Die, please.
