Dave Anderson wrote on Sat, 27 January 2007 12:41My parents computer at one point had somewhere around 18,000 infections and after the virus scan was completed and deleted the infections, they all came back so they ended up doing a reformat.

As for Vista, according to reviews on Newegg and other places, it has horrible driver support, some programs will not work, and things crash. Also mentioned was that its not worth it due to the huge memory consumption (2GB just to run smooth), and the only good thing about it so far is that it has a new and better file system.
Well, what can you expect three days before it's actually released?