gamerz0ne and IAnet are a part of our network and we don't have any issues.....anymore. It used to be pretty bad, though.

Crimson, let me know when a good time to chat about this would be and I'll try to gather up our admins. Unless you'd rather me just talk to them on your behalf to make sure they wouldn't mind. IAnet is running services, atm - and we haven't had any significant outages or issues in a very long time. I've been quite satisfied with the stability of the network.
