

---

Subject: Re: HeHe Anyone Every See Anything Like This?

Posted by bandie63 on Sun, 28 Jan 2007 20:26:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Dave Anderson wrote on Sun, 28 January 2007 13:22

Quote:

It will be eventually. The prices on electronics come down remarkably fast. What you pay for 2gb right now will be able to buy you 4 gb eventually.

Then they develop a new kind of RAM that is supposedly the newest, greatest thing that everyone must have. Then the price is right back where it started, high-dollar.

Yes, but it's not like the old stuff ceases to exist. And it's not like Vista will morph to need 4gb of RAM just out of spite. 2gb is 2gb (yeah, I know, lol clockspeeds or whatever. But the stuff that's out now will be fine. Just cause something becomes obsolete doesn't mean that its performance becomes any worse.). The price will go down, and obviously, something will replace it, but that doesn't mean you have to use the new stuff.

---