man, I respect the fact that he died...But why should I cry, I don't even know him, should I cry all the time because 2 persons I don't know died every single minute?

And he is not my brother, indeed, he was a great figure in this community, but he's still not my brother.

And finally , about the hell case ; how so? I'm not even christian, but you're , and calling me names will make you go to your fantastic hell.
