Wow, this topic really came off track, and yes I really think it would be cool for you to make a map of city a few years in the future. You could have a random visceroid running around the level just to add to the fun (or a lot to add more fun).
 Canyon and complex would also be ok to do this to; the tunnels in Complex could have caved in. And the canyon bases could be falling apart (this one would be harder to do though).
