trooprm02 wrote on Fri, 09 February 2007 21:28 Glad to see you care so much about that SS, i dont even remember saying that to you specifically, i was killed by an arty
Anyway, i like it how you went thro 123+ screenshots, looking for that 1, uploaded it and everything, GJ

1. I didn't look through 123 screenshots, more like the last 10 screenshots I had.
2. Even if I had 123 screenshots, it would take me about 3 minutes to look through all of them, so unlike you, I wouldn't say, "I have a screenshot of beating so-and-so, and then when I'm offered money to manifest this screenshot, i still can't seem to produce it"
3. The screenshot was uploaded months ago... Like seriously, 5 months ago.
4. No, you were not killed by an arty, for one thing, you were Nod, in case you are too stupid to look, and your team was winning despite my valiant efforts to steal nod vehicles and prevent them from buying any tanks for a good 5 minutes and having only managed like 2 tanks to get into our base. The reason why I got the APC? Well, First off, I got a soldier and rushed the Hand of Nod... Put my timed c4 and everything on it, then you came in, and you had an engineer, being the awesome player you are you lost an infantry inside your own building, none-the-fucking-less and engineer - can you say free remote c4?

Oh-shit, I need one more remote c4 to kill it completely though. Oh thank goodness, here comes Trooprm02 with another engineer! Thanks so much, man! After I kill the hand of nod single-handedly with a soldier in thanks to trooprm, I went to the Airstrip where some Nod guy bought an apc, upon him going to his APC, I killed him and stole his apc and started killing troop and all the Nod guys. That's when Troop calls me a hacker. I like how you go out of your way to ignore the fact that you got ripped a new asshole that game. Perhaps you should apply the KY before joining a game with someone who knows how to play - or is that the reason why you won't play anyone good anymore?

It's nice to see that you go out of your way to answer my post though, and not like the other time you ignored the screenshot out of embarassment, (You didn't say anything about an arty the first time I showed it to you) I could easily look for it by simply searching the end part of the screenshot, but you might think I took over an hour to look for it.

It's also nice to see that you go out of your way to pretend you are not the shitty-ass player that we all know you to be. Of course you thought I cheated. I beat the shit out of you, you are terrible. Everyone knows this, why are you trying to defend yourself now? Before you just say you've beat them in a 1v1 and that was that - If I were you, I'd say, "based on the public server I played with you and the 1v1 we had in the Hand of Nod, and me killing the Hand, you're a really shitty player" To take it even a step further, if for some reason you wanted to prove that you were even a spit-amount better than the shitty player you are, you would challenge me, and I - being you - would say, "I've played you and you were terrible" Not even caring to answer if you want to play 1v1 against the person or not, just because you're afraid to lose and not get better.

But we all know that's not the one instance in which I was with you in a public server - Remember the one time where I was in your server and for three straight games I was in it I had mvp, suddenly city_flying comes up and 'lo 'n' behold, I get switched to trooprm's team!

How about that one day where you said 30 sfps was better than 60 sfps? BRILLIANT! You are a marvel man, seriously

If you want to talk about caring so much, I don't go and ignore people like you do. I don't go and continue with the charade of being a good player and responding to every topic about me, like you do.
