Your right, im already planning on making a new account.

And probably going to change my IP.

Might as well start fresh.

And I'm not here to care if people beleive me.

Im not here to care if they ban me/flame me.

Ill respond to most flames, since I owe them that pleasure when i posted the first message.

Posting here you're going to ban evade will not do you any good.

You had your laugh, you must pay for it. You should not rejoin the servers you cheated on, ban evading si as bad as cheating again. Out of respect for the misery you caused these servers, you should stay away from it.

One thing: are you sorry you cheated or are you sorry you got caught? Would you still be cheating if noone banned you from their servers?

I was feeling bad about cheating way before hand.

After about the third game or so, I was more or less, thinking to myself..well, this is it?

I figured it woulda been funner.

But it really just ruined the fun in it.

And, its not cheating to change your IP.

No one will know my new IP, im staying off IRC, staying off renguard.

The only place that will know, here, and my clan page.

And, the new name wont be one obvious.

And other post-

I'm finishing up the past soon enough.

And I'm staying off renegade for awhile anyways.
