i was very lucky i could. my computer wouldn't even start. so now, after a few hours trying. i have linux duel booted with it. this time, i should be able to fix anything wrong without starting windows. i also backed up MVS so i don't have to download again. the last post was from a my linux part. this post is on windows. my computer is on its way to a full recovery

btw, im sorry Sbot is taking so long. there is a crash on the FDS i must fix before i do anything else. Hence my other thread in the other products forum. once thats fixed i can send to BETA testers.
