You guys seem to have missed the actual shining part of Halo 2. Multiplayer. No one I know says that Halo or Halo 2's singleplayer is awesome. Everyone just plays through it to play through it. Then they play the multiplayer. In the summer me and 7-12 friends would go to a friends house and link a couple xboxes together and play huge Halo 2 battles. It is great fun. I mean you can have your own opinion but to discount Halo 2 and Halo because of the singleplayer. The singleplayer is not much fun at all. Just like Renegades, just like HL2s (in my opinion attack away), just like to tell you the truth most of the games I play.
