What people do with your files is purely their decision. You don't need to worry about it unless they start taking credit (you know like the way you thought you could get away ripping APB stuff?).

Anyway, unless you get the source code to these apps there's no point in doing so.