Jerad Gray wrote on Wed, 21 March 2007 21:33The damage that Global Warming does is no where near as annoying as it is to here people talk about it.

It's much more annoying when people who are completely ignorant on the subject of global warming state things like "there isn't any hardcore scientific data linking.." when they probably don't even know what empirical data is [also considering the first post ].

My first post was a fact, if you are calling it false then you are ignorant.

I wasn't talking about your first post. I was talking about THE first post.
